WE NOMINATE

Robert Whitsett van de Velde, a "career soldier" for over two decades, a teacher-administrator for the past half-dozen years in Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School, and a community leader concerned with strengthening the concept of two-party government on the local level. This fall the 50-year old van de Velde, who as a college senior in the spring of 1933 listed himself as a Republican "planning to enter business," finds himself in the many-sided role of directing a loosely knit, volunteer political organization, which—like its Republican counterparts in the Princeton Area—is the antithesis of the so-called "party machine."

Twice a defeated candidate for Borough Council, and by conviction a partisan Democrat, van de Velde early in 1962 shouldered the basically thankless task of guiding a political unit in a municipality where politics, according to one former Borough Councilman, are "clean, honest and competitive" — and, also, seasonal. "At the risk of sounding like a starry-eyed idealist," van de Velde points out, "I accepted this job because I feel strongly that the entire democratic process hinges on the interests and concerns of those voluntarily handling the routine, often humdrum, groundwork underpinning our system of elections. Frankly, and while I am not particularly well seasoned in political operations and 'know-how,' I am often appalled by Princeton's political apathy."

A motivating factor in van de Velde's decision to participate in public affairs, a decision which each week adds hours to a crowded schedule, was 22 years of service as an Army officer when, in his words, "I was ineligible to take advantage of such opportunities." Since his retirement in 1957 with rank of colonel, and his initial University appointment as Assistant to the Director of the Wilson School, he has in a real sense brought to his "extra-professional activities" the enthusiasm and drive traditionally associated with a younger man "making his last run for public office."

The recipient of a Regular commission in 1937, four years following graduation from Princeton, van de Velde compressed into his Army years a variety of experience, including the frustrations of Americans "pinned down" in Hawaii by the shock of Pearl Harbor, battle decorations in the Italian offensives, post-war duty as the first American military attaché in Israel, and a final stint in the Paris Headquarters of the U.S. European Command. Of import in the development of his present interests was the 3-year period (1950-1953) that enabled him, under military assignment, to carry forward advanced work in the Wilson School and to qualify for his master's and doctoral degrees, the latter in the Department of Politics.

Van de Velde, now Executive Secretary of the Wilson School, plays a central part in the evolution of one of the stimulating educational ventures of recent years, the "Graduate Program of Professional Education" made possible by the anonymously created $35-million "X" Foundation. Co-author of "Strategic Psychological Operations and American Foreign Policy," he is largely responsible for the success of two key, widely separated ventures: the Rockefeller Public Service Awards, seeking to bolster the public service through recognition of distinguished civilians in the Federal Government, and The Parvin Fellows Program, bringing here each year potential leaders from the emerging nations.

For personifying, without regard for political affiliation, the conception of the "dedicated citizen"; for believing, and implicitly, in all he is attempting to do; for encouraging voters of all suasions, whether Republican, Democratic or Independent, "to listen, to comment, to question why"; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

BOROUGH TO GET LAND?

Question Is Raised. The Borough Board of Education may ask the Township to cede to the Borough the Walnut Lane properties on which the Borough Board plans to build its new school. This would mean that all problems of traffic, land use and so on would be focused in a single municipality, the municipality whose school board owns the school.

There is a precedent for such a move. The Borough's Princeton High School stands on a jut of Borough land extending into the Township which was formerly part of the Township.

A meeting between the Township Planning Board and the Borough Board of Education will take place soon, probably within a month. After Borough voters had given their "yes" to the purchase of the Walnut Lane properties, Mayor Kenneth R. Fairman of the Township received a letter from Graham Rohrer, president of the Borough Board, indicating that the Board is now ready to appear before the Township planners. A date will be decided upon between Mr. Rohrer and Gerald Breese, Township Planning Board chairman.

HERE'S WHERE THE CARS ARE: Franklin Avenue lies in the Borough, but plays a part in Township motoring habits. Here is Franklin as it dead-ends into Walnut Lane along the grassy east side of Princeton High School. Westminster Choir College property, to be developed eventually by the College, lies at the left. Beyond it a few feet down Walnut Lane is the Borough's new school property. A run-down of traffic problems in this part of town appears in "This Is Princeton." (Staff Photo)

The Township has an eye on the School Board's plans, although its legal jurisdiction is limited. No community, Township or Borough, has any authority over a school board's building plans; only the state department of education has such authority. Nor does a municipality have any zoning control over a school board's arrangements.

However, two subdivisions are involved in the present situation—that of Westminster Choir College, owner of most of the land, and that of Richard Bradley, owner of a small parcel along Guyot Avenue, and the Township does have authority here.

Through Street Needed. There is also serious concern on the part of Township officials about traffic, particularly along Franklin Avenue, which lies in the Borough, but which provides Township residents with one of their few east-west throughfares.

There is a possibility that the Board of Education might ask for permission to wipe out the stub of Guyot that lies at the northern edge of their property, and also ask the Township to vacate a possible extension of Henry Avenue. There has also been talk of vacating—that is, eleminating—Franklin.

Traffic counts made by the assistant Township engineer, Frank Quinby, last week, showed a heavy traffic pattern along that street: 11,574 cars during the seven days between September 26 and October 2. The heaviest use of Franklin comes at 9 a.m. and again at 4 and 5 p.m.

With an already heavy traffic flow along Franklin, beginning or ending at Walnut Lane, the Township is concerned about the School Board's plans for diverting traffic in and around its new school, and is also concerned lest Borough plans cut off Franklin entirely for motorists traversing the Township.

TO BUILD DORMITORIES On Goldie Field. The University is ready to build the five undergraduate dormitories on Goldie Field which it announced three years ago, and representatives of the University appeared before the Township Planning Board Monday night "as a courtesy and a matter of information" to spread out their plans before Planning Board members. No Planning Board action is required.

The complex will go up on the land south of Wilcox Hall and the portion of College Road that goes from Washington Road to the turn-off for Baker Rink. Edgar M. Gemmell, administrative vice-president for the University, told the Planning Board that Princeton would finally implement "within the year" its long-anticipated decision to close off College Road and would construct in its place a footpath similar to McCosh Walk, but wide enough to accommodate emergency vehicles.

Most of the land involved lies in the Township, and only about 10 percent in the Borough. The University expects to appear also before Borough officials, hoping for Borough-Township agreement on a single building permit, single inspection, and so on.

The dormitories will house 326 students and will provide three apartments for bachelor members of the faculty. It is hoped that the buildings will be completed by the spring of 1964.

The University is now constructing a re-alignment of the lakeside dirt road that feeds into Washington Road. When it is completed, this re-alignment will make a direct cross-intersection with Faculty Road, eliminating the present jog across Washington. Eventually, according to the county engineer's office, the traffic signal now at College and Washington will be moved south to the new Faculty-Washington intersection.

granted in executive session Tuesday the parking variance requested by Palmer Square, Inc. for its planned $1,350,000 office building.

The approval carried the stipulation that PSI provide the required 171 parking spaces from its neighboring lots. Ground is expected to be broken early next year for the five-story structure on Palmer Square East.

Bank Stand Clarified. In a memorandum prepared by attorney Crawford Jamieson, the First National Bank has clarified its objections to the variance.

First National's dissent centers upon the proposed Princeton Bank and Trust Company auxiliary office in the rear. "The auxiliary banking facility would be a clear circumvention of the existing banking laws of the State of New Jersey" which state that no auxiliary office can be established within 1,000 feet of the main office of another bank without its written consent . . . "which consent has not been solocited."

First National also objects to the proposed location of the drive-in wing in the parking area on the east side of Palmer Square, opposite the main vehicular entrance to the Nassau Inn.

"Traffic congestion resulting from the combination of post office traffic, bank patrons, hotel guests being picked up or discharged at the Inn, and the general public, would create an undesirable traffic bottleneck." While making no objection to the "overall parking scheme," First National observed that the drive-in wing "is to be located in the parking area apportioned for use by occupants of the proposed main building. And at the same time it was stated that this strip of available parking would remain for parking purposes even if the auxiliary drive-in banking facility were situated there."

First National says that it believes the basic plan of Palmer Square, Inc. "will be a positive contribution to the community," and that it "has no objection to the plan of Palmer Square, Inc. to have as one of its principal tenants in the new building the Princeton Bank and Trust Company."

In the report covering the hearing for the parking variance, Mr. Jamieson was incorrectly quoted as to the legal proximity of a banking drive-in to a competing bank. Further, no approval by the First Presbyterian Church of the move is required.

VOLUNTEERS WANTED

For Red Cross Program. The Red Cross will begin its orientation program for volunteers wishing to serve in the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute on Monday, October 22.

Two-hour sessions, from 9.30 to 11:30, will be held Monday through Wednesday mornings of that week. On completion of the course, known as the Gray Lady program, each volunteer will be given a period of supervised training.

Addressing the group will be Dr. Robert Bennett, medical director at the institute; Dr. Eva Short, Dr. Manfred Kanther and Mrs. Lillian Cole, director of the Psychiatric Social Service. The course will be given at the institute. Those wishing to register should call the Princeton Chapter, American Red Cross, WA 4-2404.

ROUND-UP

A squall line rammed its way through Mercer County early Tuesday morning, bringing more than half an inch of rain in less than two hours, near pitch-black darkness an hour after sunrise and hailstones of some proportions.

Low pressure areas in upper New York state and off the Atlantic coast along New Jersey and Delaware were responsible, creating a trough through which a line of thunderstorms sluiced then, while sunshine broke through in New Jersey, the squall stalled over New York in general and the Yankee Stadium in particular, causing postponement of the fifth game of the World Series.

October, accordingly, is somewhat ahead in precipitation for the first ten days, since last week also produced close to a half inch of rain, most of it on Friday . . . temperature readings averaged generally somewhat below normal.

Need weekend money? Cash your checks early . . . Friday is Columbus Day, and the banks will be closed from 3 p.m. Thursday until Monday morning.

A hit-and-run accident occurred Friday just before midnight on Nassau Street, near Holder Hall . . . Miss Cecily Corcoran, a student at the Madeira School in Virginia, was crossing the street with her date, freshman Douglas Penick, when she was brusbed by a car and knocked down . . . she required three stitches at Princeton Hospital for a leg cut.

Petty thievery: two 8x10 rugs, valued at $75 each, from the garage of Mrs. Loren H. Odden, 30 Armour Road . . . a blanket valued at $10 from the back porch of Mrs. Anita L. Simpson's home at 58 Wiggins . . . a tire and wheel from a small foreign car owned by Mrs. Murray H Reich, 184 Loomis Court.

"Morven" is once again occupied by the heads of its large family . . Gov. and Mrs. Hughes have returned from a three-week vacation abroad, principally in Ireland.

RACEWAY PROTESTED

By John Street Residents. Thirty-five residents of John Street have petitioned the Borough Mayor and Council for protection against speeders on their narrow one-way street.

Citing broken porches, fearful school children, and night-time racing by "cowboys," the group asked for more frequent police patrol of the area. It also asked that the police clamp down on violators of the two-hour parking limit.

Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan told the Mayor and Council, "I know this problem of 'cowboys;' I can almost tell who is doing it, but the difficulty is to catch them doing it." He added that it is "almost impossible to clock speeders on John Street."

Mayor Henry S. Patterson told the residents that the police department would help in every way it could. "I frankly admit it is a matter of manpower to get around. We could always do a much better police job by just doubling the police force, but no one would stand for the cost". We will do our best with what we have."

Councilman William W. Walker noted that "unfortunately, the hot rodders know when our two police cars patrol."

Mayor Patterson said, "We will do our best, but we still feel in Borough Hall that parents, friends and relatives of those we all know are offenders should police their young drivers — make them realize that this can't continue."

Bayard Lane Light Studied. Mayor Patterson reported that the State Highway Department will conduct a second study of traffic conditions at Bayard Lane and Avalon Place. "The new count will be before 8 a.m. and will include 5 p.m. traffic — and it won't be taken just after a snowstorm!" Present at the conference with state officials were Mayor Patterson, Councilman Walker, Administrator Robert S. Mooney, Borough Engineer Arthur T. Brokaw, Chief McCrohan, Magistrate Theodore Tams and Mrs. S. A. Waterman of 19 Hunter Road, who spoke on behalf of the western area residents.

A new version of the Housing code which was tabled at the last meeting will be held in abeyance until Council members have an opportunity to study the suggested revisions. The new version is to be presented at the next council meeting, which has been rescheduled to November 20.

CANDIDATES SPEAK

In Weekly Statements. John Hite and James Foley, Democratic candidates for Township Committee, said this week that their Republican opponents had declined to debate with them, claiming that debates would inject "razzle-dazzle, big-city politics into the campaign" and "would not elevate its tone and quality."

The invitation was extended on May 25 by Mr. Hite and William Marvel, who was a candidate at that time, but has since withdrawn. John O. Green and Carl Schafer, Republican candidates, replied with their refusal on July 28, according to Mr. Hite.

The Democratic candidate said that the Republicans expressed the opinion that debate would create issues which do not exist—"in short, all the trappings, tricks and gimmicks of professional politics."

Commenting on the Republican position, Mr. Hite said, "It is this kind of refusal to debate which points up the sham of Republican politics: keep the tone elevated and if forced to take a stand on some fossilized issue, then advocate a study, or make large and meaningless generalizations. Let's not lower the tone and quality of this campaign by debating issues."

Mr Hite then cited "the serious water problem, scandalous sewer breakdowns, rising taxes, lack of research laboratories, commitment on consolidation or plans for lower income housing . . . and the total breakdown of recreational planning and development.

"The Republican candidates refuse to debate because a debate would reveal a sorry record indeed." Mr Hite concluded.

Republican Viewpoint. In their statement this week, Mr. Green and Mr. Schafer said, "It would be supremely ironic if the best climate in years for political consolidation of the Princeton community was blown apart by a hurricane of invective, charge and countercharge and petty recrimination. Let us calm down on the subject and get on with the job of working out mutual problems with friends and neighbors in the Borough."

Mr. Green and Mr. Schafer refer to what they call "the score on consolidation." Through many innings of so-called bi-partisan government in both municipalities, it was zero. This year, almost for the first time, the Republican mayors of Township and Borough have met and conferred with each other on many more occasions than their predecessors ever did.

"The governing bodies, at our urging," say the candidates, "held a joint meeting of the two groups to develop a program of action on municipal cooperation. That program is being carried forward with all deliberate speed."

"The candidates state their belief that both municipalities are "bound together forever" and that they can "and probably should have a joint sewer, joint recreation program, jointly owned open space, joint library and joint school system."

CAN'T SET AIR DATE

But WHWH Has Extension. "No air date for Princeton's first radio station is possible to project," said Herbert W. Hobler, 295 Mercer Road, president of WHWH, when he announced this week that the FCC has granted the station a six-month's extension, and that a trial date has been set for the two legal actions involving WHWH.

The first legal action involves the station and Hopewell Township. WHWH erected six towers last April on the Mt. Rose-Peanington Road, and soon after they were up, Hopewell Township ordered the station to take them down, contending that the building permit had been improperly issued. WHWH then obtained a restraining order against the township in Superior Court.

The township's action is based on interpretation of the Hopewell Township zoning law, which permits the construction of radio towers for the transmitting and receiving of messages in a Class A residential zone; however, there is a question as to whether WHWH's towers come under that classification since they are to be used for commercial purposes.

In the second legal action, two citizens of Hopewell Township contend that the station constitutes a nuisance. The plaintiffs are William F. Kiefer, Pennington-Rocky Hill Road, and Mrs. L. H. Terpening, Bayberry Road.

No construction work has been done on the station since May 9. In July, following approval by the Federal Aviation Authority and the Federal Communications Commission, WHWH reduced the intensity of the beacons and lights on its towers by more than 70 percent, according to Mr. Hobler.

The FCC originally granted a permit to the station in February and directed WHWH to finish construction within eight months. The air target date was set for early September, about a month before the FCC's deadline. When it became obvious that WHWH could not meet this deadline, the FCC granted a six-month's extension, to April 6, 1963.

Mr. Hobler said this week that the station had about five months of work ahead when it stopped construction last spring, chiefly the installation of equipment and extensive engineering tests.

WOMEN TO BE HOSTS

For State Clubs. The Woman's Club of Princeton will be the hostess club for the Fourth District Fall Conference of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs to be held this Thursday from 9:45 at the Shrine Club, River Road.

Registration will be held at 9:45, followed by a 10:15 morning session, luncheon at 12:30 and afternoon session at 1:15. Mrs. Kenneth H. Sternkopf will be in charge of luncheon.

No doubt about it, red (blended here and there with gold) is the dominating color around the countryside these days. The green had taken a look at the calendar, and is departing for warmer places.

If the rain will hold off for a while, the foliage will be on view that much longer. After more than an inch of precipitation in the past week, the forecast calls for a clear and dry October weekend.

News Of The THEATRES

ACTORS HERE ON CUE

Ready for Repertory. The actors have arrived and rehearsals have begun. McCarter Theatre's resident company of professional actors moved in last weekend, ready to begin the preparation of four productions in three and one-half weeks.

Next Friday, October 19, the company will bow to Princeton with the first of five performances of the off-Broadway musical success, "The Fantasticks," and three days later, the company will begin its full schedule of student matinees with Shakespeare's "The Comedy of Errors."

Meanwhile, backstage, the actors are preparing for the formal opening of the fall drama series, "Mediterranean Heritage," beginning with a double bill consisting of Sophocles' "Antigone" and Christopher Fry's "A Phoenix Too Frequent."

Juggling these four shows with the actors are backstage technicians, apprentices, the prop girl, the costume mistress and her assistant, all of them working toward the coordination that sends Antigone on stage wearing her own sandals and not Adriana's, and that keeps Shakespeare's lighting cues from quarreling with Sophocles'.

The actors, hired in New York, have Equity contracts which state that living accommodations must be within walking distance of the theatre. Because of the shortage of small apartments and rooming houses in Princeton, many members of the company are living in private homes near McCarter.

IT'S GOING TO BE FUN

Players Go For Comedy. A season of contemporary comedy will be on the boards this year for Princeton Community Players, and an open meeting will be held Sunday at 8:30 p.m. in Murray Theatre on campus to discuss plans. Free beer and entertainment will be provided.

"For those who want the fun and learning that comes with participation in a major production, Community Players provides the best and most extensive outlet," said Garrison Ellis, president, in announcing the season's plans.

"Princeton offers, if anything, a surfeit of theatrical fare," Mr. Ellis continued, "and our aim is to put this in balance: comic relief from the heavy wading in the Mediterranean heritage, while giving the Players themselves the opportunity to work in plays of highest quality."

At present, Community Players plan three or four major productions, choosing their offerings from the works of Thurber, Nugent, Coward, Fry, Greene, de Vries, Kauffmann and Hart, Saroyan, Behrman, Alexrod, Anouilh and Cocteau.

There will be shorter productions at Christmas-time and at other times during the year, with experimental theatre, playreading and lecture-discussions also under consideration.

Anyone interested in any phase of community theatre is invited to attend Sunday's meeting, and to apply for membership in the organization. Membership is a prerequisite to participation, but does not commit a member to major productions unless he wants it that way.

TECHNIQUES DISCUSSED

For Children's Theatre. Sixty representatives of Junior League chapters from all over the state gathered at McCarter Theatre last week to discuss the techniques involved in producing plays for children. The conference was arranged by the Trenton Junior League, and staged under the auspices of the McCarter Guild.

Three guest speakers, including directors of children's theatre and a Junior League member who has spent considerable time improving the quality of scripts prepared for children, addressed the members of the conference.

Mrs. Donald Gordon spoke on "Scripts for Children's Theatre" and Rhoda Carroll, Mario Siletti and Munroe Wade on the technique of directing plays for children.

After the speakers and a panel discussion, members of the group were invited to discuss technical problems with the production staff at McCarter. Luncheon at the Princeton followed.

TWO PLAYS SCHEDULED

By Theatre Intime. Two one-act plays will be produced by Theatre Intime at Murray Theatre this weekend.

William Saroyan's drama, "Hello Out There," and "A Bedtime Story," a comedy by Sean O'Casey, will be performed Thursday, Friday and Saturday. A part of the freshman one-act series, the plays will be directed by Jose Mayobre and Daniel Deitch.

Julia Frennon, who has been in a number of Intime and Community Players' productions, will appear in the Saroyan play. Lois Cohen, who has been seen in presentations by both the Community and Princeton Players, will be in "A Bedtime Story," as will Linda Smith, dramatics and English teacher at Princeton High School.

PLAYHOUSE

I Thank A Fool (Today thru Saturday) stars Susan Hayward and Peter Finch in a highly emotional story of a woman doctor who has been sent to prison for a "mercy killing." She subsequently becomes involved with the prosecutor who had hounded her.

The movie was filmed in color in Ireland and England and the settings heighten the suspense. Comment: a good chiller.

No Man Is An Island (October 14-16) is an adventure film based on the true World War II experience of an American sailor who hid from the Japanese for two years on the island of Guam.

Jeffrey Hunter is handsome and effective as George R. Tweed, the man who found refuge in the island's leper colony. Supporting roles are well played by Barbara Perez and Marshall Thompson, but the scene where Marshall is beheaded might well have been left out. The use of color has made possible a number of beautiful shots of the rugged terrain and the ocean beyond. Comment: often exciting, always interesting.

THE GARDEN

Jules and Jim (thru Tuesday) stars Jeanne Moreau, Oskar Werner and Henri Serre in a stringent study of relations. A Frenchman and a German meet in 1907 and become close friends. Bitterly separated by World War I, they are reacquainted after the war —to the point where they engage in a wife swap. The film is in French with English subtitles. Comment: no bell-ringer.

BIOGRAPHY? Brigitte Bardot stars in "A Very Private Affair" which unfolds the story of a screen star whose world fame brings her unhappiness. At the Prince through Sunday.

THE PRINCE

A Very Private Affair (now thru Saturday) stars Brigitte Bardot in a trite tale of a movie star tormented by the very popularity she had worked so hard to achieve. Most of her problems stem from the fact that the populace trail her about.

A series of lovers brings her to realize that she is in love with her friend's husband, portrayed by Marcello Mastroianni. She runs off with him to Spoleto, where he is directing a play.

The publicity about the romance soon sets the rival public on their trail. All of which has a familiar sound. Comment: pretty thin.

Two Women (Oct. 14-16) is a penetrating dissection of human emotions. The Academy Award-winning film stars Sophia Loren who shows for the first time that she is an actress of extraordinary range. Much credit also goes to the sensitive talent of the director, Vittorio DeSica. He has not turned out a movie of such quality since "The Bicycle Thief."

The plot, based on Alberto Moravia's widely read novel, concerns an earthy peasant widow and her possessive desire to protect her young daughter from the truths of life. Trapped in Rome as the Allies advance against bitter and desperate German resistance, she flees with her daughter, after giving herself to Raf Vallone in return for his promise to take care of her little grocery store. Among the motley group of refugees in her home village is Jean Paul Belmondo, a young schoolteacher. The daughter, played by Eleanora Brown, falls in love with him not realizing that he is attracted to her mother. In the ensuing scenes there is violence, rape and gore enough for several movies. The film is in Italian with English sub-titles. Comment: brilliant performance by Miss Loren.

IT'S NEW To Us

BUT NO OLD LACE

In Lavender Shoppe. Into a shop about the size of a French purse, Jack and Inge Chambers have arranged gifts and accessories in such variety that you may suspect a case of legerdemain when you walk in the door. It's The Lavender Shoppe, 173 Nassau, across from Cox, and not far from Nassau Street School.

Cini Jewelry from California is the pride of the shop at the moment, and the Chambers have displayed its traceries in the center of their little jewel case. Sterling filigree or 24-k gold on sterling or the sleekness of solid sterling in little leaves and settings characterize this collection.

The stones are clear, simulated aquamarines, amethysts, tourmalines, quartz, set perhaps in a five-stone necklace, or alone in a pair of earrings. Prices start at $6 and range to $60. There is a single pendant on a silver chain for $9.95, and a seven-stone aquamarine necklace for $31.95.

Hand-set European stones have been used to make a magnificent collar two inches deep that looks to us like crystal. And there is a smoky cluster pin for $6.95, with earrings to match.

To complement the jewelry, The Lavender Shoppe shows off the inside and out of a satin petal bag from France, a full-blown black rose (pink, if you prefer), its petals massed so closely that the frame is scarcely visible. (There's a little coin purse, a bud, to match.)

Quilted leather has been used for a day-time bag with a fringed edge, and leather fibre has been employed for a bag of shadow grey, simple as a cloud. A buckle-over pouch bag is a long, slinky black 15 inch affair obviously designed for secret papers, but probably destined to carry theatre programs.

A collection of Italian porcelain begins with a compote of fruit and a pair of impervious roosters. There's a splendid pheasant ($35) for some hunter's den this fall, and a delicious little lavebo. You may prefer the stark whiteness of the rearing German porcelain horse, or the German birds due soon at The Lavender Shoppe.

Perhaps the most unusual offering at this new shop is the brass pole lamp from India, made with a standard pole and any one of 20 different pierced Sarna brass lamps, some like flattened globes, others pear-shaped, some a cascading combination of many shapes, some as chaste as a sphere.

All are lined with fibre-glass su that they can take the fieriest wattage you want. If you don't need the pole variety, you may choose a large lantern to drape from your ceiling by a chain. The pole lamp on display is $125. The one you will choose may come from the catalogue.

Well, the rain it raineth every day, or nearly so, and The Lavender Shoppe prepares you for it with some bright-eyed umbrellas, starting with a dazzler in white nylon with a red rose here and there, and continuing on to a bright yellow. Lilac, beige and emerald are also among the 30 colors available.

The handles are French or Italian, elegantly styled walking sticks of leather, slim as a mantis, or baroque knobs of gems and brass, curving and flamboyant. Well . . . see for yourself.

SILVER IN THE NEEDLE

Fabrics are Embroidered. Imagine silk, deep ox-blood in color, with encrustations of silver embroidery laced with royal blue in a pattern of separated squares. Not for an apron, chick, but for the most sumptuous gown you will ever own. Gretchen's has the fabric and we can just see you wearing it.

Here on Route 130 Gretchen defies the roaring diesels with French silk fabrics like the one above, or the cream silk with cascading gold and flowers or the incredible combination of gold embroidery and pink peonies.

Cut velvets from France are understated: one is teal blue silk with cut velvet flowers so widely spaced you can hardly trace the pattern. Another is black with yellow flowers in an open field.

A regular pattern of violet raspberries has been woven into an irridescent emerald silk, and brocades of fruit appear in a shimmer of dark copper and black. (Blues and greens, if you wish). A grey "wary" silk has copper blurs that might be flowers, and a deep ribbed silk of champagne has a formal pattern of leaves.

Got a Rock?

LaVake's has. Window full of them. The Nassau Street jewelry store has a collection this week of gem minerals in their natural state, and the jewelry that comes out of the mineral when the clay has been cut away and the stone polished and cut.

Chrysocolic quartz, the blue chrysoprese, is one of the best known stones in the collection, and Benitoite probably the rarest. Benitoite is found only in San Benito County, California, but LaVake doesn't say, "How come?"

There's a piece of amber here, and a delicate amber bracelet, a chunk of rose quartz and several scarab bracelets with rose quartz scarabs. Bloodstone and turquoise are shown as "rocks" and as rings, and there is a lovely group of opal pieces. Stop and be a window-watcher next time you walk by.

From India, Gretchen's has an unusual assortment of printed Madras, like the yellow, black and cream horizontal print of grazing cows, or the unbleached muslin with its curious all-over "cattle brand" print in red and black, or the dull mustard with black "S" fragments. How many "at home" skirts do you need?

Ski jackets, bathrobes and children's outer (or inner) wear can be made from orlon pile, flurry and bright in cherry, gold or moss green, $5 a yard, 60 inches wide. If you need a bedspread, look at the

MUSIC In Princeton

IT'S AMATEUR NIGHT

For Princeton Singers. Verdi's Requiem will be undertaken by members of the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs when they meet Sunday for the first time this season. They will gather at 3 in the gymnasium at Miss Fine's School

The Amateurs, now entering their 28th season, draw their members from the entire Princeton community and from as far away as New York and Philadelphia. There are no auditions, and no public performances and the only requirement for membership is love of music and willingness to sing it, however shakily, at sight and without rehearsal.

Members of the orchestra and soloists are usually semi-professional or professionals, and their services are arranged for in advance. Mrs. MacKenly Bryan is the manager.

This year the group will again be under the direction of J. Merrill Knapp of the department of music, Princeton University. Mrs. Henry Lewis and Thomas Hilbish will share the conducting assignment with Dean Knapp.

The choral works to be sung this season are: Bach's Cantatas Nos. 69 and 78 (November 18); Handel's Messiah (December 9); Schuetz' Psalms and Vivaldi's Gloria (January 13); Mendelssohn's Elijah (February 10); Cherubini's Requiem March 10); Haydn's "Theresa" Mass (April 21) and Mozart's Mass in C Minor (May 12).

FUCHS, SISTER TO PLAY

In Series II Opener. Joseph Fuchs, violinist, and his sister, Lillian Fuchs, violist, will open Series II of the Princeton University concerts with a recital in McCarter Theatre Monday at 8:30. Tickets are on sale at the University Store, and may also be purchased at McCarter on the evening of the concert.

Mr. Fuchs made his New York debut in 1943 in a recital which established him as one of the world's virtuosi of the violin. Since that time, he has appeared seven times as soloist with the New York Philharmonic and with most of the other great orchestras here and in Europe. He is now making a series of television programs for distribution in New England and to educational television outlets throughout the world.

Miss Fuchs has performed as soloist with the Casals Festival Orchestra at Prades, France, and with the Musicians' Guild in New York. The contemporary composers, de Menasce, Martinu and Porter, have written works especially for her.

The Fuchs will play one of the works Martinu has written for them, his Three Madrigals for Violin and Viola (1949). Miss Fuchs will play the Brahms Sonata in F Minor, Opus 120, Number 1, and Mr. Fuchs will play the Beethoven Sonata in A Major, Opus 47, Number 9 ("Kreutzer"). Artur Balsam will accompany. He and Mr. Fuchs have recorded all the Beethoven piano-violin sonatas.

WEINRICH TO PLAY

In Organ Recital. For his first organ recital of the season, Carl Weinrich, University Chapel organist, has chosen a program selected from the works of Bach, Mozart, Persichetti and Daquin.

The recital will be given Sunday at 3:30 in the chapel. The program will consist of the Toccata and Fugue in F Major and the Chorale-Prelude, "Vor deinen Thron" by Bach; Mozart's Fantasy in F Minor (K. 608); a New by Daquin and Persichetti's Sonata, Opus 86. For his concluding selection, Mr. Weinrich will play the Bach Prelude and Fugue in A Minor.

Hear the Bells!

Carillon recitals are now being given each weekday from 5:20 to 5:30 on the carillon bells at Westminster Choir College. The carilloneurs are Dr. Alexander McCurdy, head of the organ department at the College, Robert Carwithen, who has played at both the Brussells and Seattle fairs, and other members of the department.

The carillon bells were a gift to Westminster from Schulmeric Carillons, Inc., manufacturers of the world's largest carillon, now in use at the Seattle World Fair

We overheard an engineer talking about the electron theory which he said is the basis of modern electrical theory, and is man's starting point in all his uses of electrical power. The thing that impressed us is the fact that so much of today's tremendous advances are based upon what man still must call theory, for although he can measure and use electrical power he still cannot see it nor say exactly what it is, other than a form of energy that exists, even though he can prove it exists by mathematical formula, and the results obtained. We know that it is power that in some degree is present in everything, even saturates our atmosphere and we know that electromagnetic waves, and light have identical properties. One cannot go deeply into such a subject without getting too involved technically, but from our outsider's viewpoint it is certainly a fascinating mystery. We suppose that one of the differences between science and business is that in science they rely on our experience with scientific laws, whereas in business we rely on our experience with people. We assure you that you can rely on us just as surely as a scientist relies on his formulas. Kammler Buick-Pontiac Co., Route 206, opposite Princeton Airport, WA 1-2222 quilted flower cotton, which comes unquilted for draperies or slip covers. Colors to your order.

On the wool side, Gretchen shows this fall a napped cashmere and wool in greyed teal, the richest chocolate brown this side of Hershey, taupe, royal or gold. The Le Sur factory in France sends a boucle-like fabric in deep camel or avocado, and the Italian mills produce double knits in too many colors to count, even a cream shot with gold.

Unobtrusive, but completely spectacular is a creamy white sheer wool so thin it makes challis feel like bop-sacking. Trim it, if you like, with one of the French ribbon bindings in blue or gold embroidery.

Another pale wool is the so-called "naked" wool open weave in lemon or powder blue, and still another is the white wool ottoman, rich as whipped cream.

Dressmaking accessories at Gretchen's these days start with a delicate butterfly book for belt or jacket closing, rhinestone hooks and eyes, pearl clasps, dime-size buttons in rhinestone, and a black silk tassel for a black dress.

arrangements and Mesdames Kenneth L. Ostheim and E. Dudley Goodale in charge of flowers.

Princeton women participating in the program are Mesdames William Liggett, president; Harlan D. Mills, Peter C. Holnback, H. Wesley A. Konover nad Norman D. Kelley.

The music department of the Princeton Woman's Club, led by Mrs. Paul W. Moore, will appear on the program. Mrs. Donald T. Bixby, Fourth District vice-president, will preside over the sessions.

FINED $300

For Drunken Driving. At a special hearing before Township Magistrate James S. Hill Monday evening, Bernardo Figueroa, 49, 51 Prospect Avenue, was fined $300 for driving while intoxicated. His driver's license was automatically revoked for two years. Magistrate Hill further recommended that the defendant be re-examined by the Motor Vehicle Department before his license is restored.

Township police report that Mr. Figueroa, driving on Harrison Street early Sunday morning, swerved to the left at the intersection of Western Way. His car then jumped the left curb, knocking down a directional sign, swerved to the right across Harrison into the rear of a parked car belonging to Frank W. Wicker, 169 Harrison Street.

The force of the collision forced Mr. Wicker's car into another parked in front of it, owned by Frank E. Brunner of 171 Harrison. The front end of Mr. Figueroa's car and the rear of Mr. Wicker's were totally damaged. The third car was only slightly barmed.

BIRTH LIST

Twins Born. Dr. and Mrs. Paul E. Van Horn of 11 Patton Avenue became the parents of twin daughters on October 5 at Princeton Hospital. Twenty-two births were reported last week; 11 were boys.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Landauer, 50 Aiken Avenue, September 30; Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Burck, 75 Harrison Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Tipton, 8 Gordon Avenue, Lawrenceville, both on October 2; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dean, 127 Meadowbrook Drive, October 3, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Evans, Lakeside Apartments, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jennings, 78 Sand Hills Road, Franklin Park, both on October 4; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Noebels, Monmouth Junction; Mr. and Mrs. William Bohm, the Nassau Inn; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Meehan, 7 Poe Court, Kendall Park; and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stoss, 59 Kingsley Road, Kendall Park, all on October 5. Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Wilson, 229 N. Main Street, Hightstown, October 6.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley S. Glickstein, Lakeside Apartments, October 2; Mr. and Mrs. Seymour T. Nelson, 34 Dawson Road, Kendall Park; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Higgins, Springhill Road, Skillman; and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bonin, 80 Robert Road, all on October 3; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Rain, 3152 Route 27, Franklin Park; Mr. and Mrs. James J. Morgan, 22 Bank Street; Mr. and Mrs. James W. Whelan, Wilmor Drive, Hightstown, all on October 4; Mr. and Mrs. John J. Pesce, 75 Harris Road, October 6; Mr. and Mrs. Roland Muri, 105 Orchard Avenue, Hightstown, October 7.

MRS. CARRICK NAMED

To Scout Post. Mrs. Alan Carrick, 260 Prospect Avenue, has been appointed to the Region II Committee of the Girl Scouts, the administrative body responsible for all phases of the program within its territory. Region II comprises New Jersey, New York, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Active in Girl Scouting for 20 years, Mrs. Carrick is a member-at-large of the Princeton Council's board of directors. She served as council president for two terms, 1953-56, and then served a year as camp committee chairman. In 1961, she was day camp committee chairman, having previously served as a leader in the first day camp, held in 1948.

CARD PARTY PLANNED

To Aid Scholarship Ball. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Princeton Lions Club will hold a card party for the benefit of its scholarship fund October 24 at 8 in the Chestnut Street Firehouse.

Donation for the event is $1.50 and reservations can be made through Mrs. Ralph Kleiber at WA 4-3354. There will be refreshments and prizes.

Valley Road Parents' Night

Parents of Valley Road School students will attend classes on an abbreviated time schedule this Thursday evening.

Meeting at 7:45 in the school auditorium for greetings from Principal John Wolfkeil, the parents will begin at 8 to follow the typical Thursday schedule of their son or daughter.

Teachers will discuss the work planned for the year. Student Council hall monitors will be on duty to guide parents from class to class.

BROWNIE GROWN UP?

Uniforms Needed. Brownies and Girl Scouts whose arms and legs have eclipsed their uniforms, have been asked to offer the outgrown garments for sale through the Girl Scout office, 4 Green Street.

Senior and Mariner uniforms are needed, also. Troops are now being organized, and leaders would like to have all Scouts in uniform for the All-Council meeting on November 4. Uniforms may be brought to the office Tuesdays, Wednes-

NEW LIGHTS INSTALLED

On Nassau Street. Three new mercury vapor street lights have been installed at the intersection of Nassau Street and University Place by Public Service. According to Arthur T. Brokaw, Borough engineer, similar lights are scheduled to be installed on Nassau at the intersections of Chambers Street and Palmer Square.

Their bluish-white glare much brighter than that of the ordinary electric bulb street lamp, the new lights were installed to improve visibility at intersections where police officers direct heavy traffic. The extra light is needed especially at dusk when home-headed traffic is heaviest. Each light is turned on and off automatically by a photo-electric cell.

The vapor lights were chosen in preference to spoils lights used by some communities for the same purpose. They were requested by the Borough Chief of Police, Peter J. McCrohan. White circles will also be painted in the center of each intersection for the traffic officer to stand in, Mr. Brokaw added.

HOW ABOUT PLANNING?

League to Discuss It. Regional planning in New Jersey will be explored and discussed next week by members of the League of Women Voters when they meet, in unit gatherings, to discuss a report on planning just published by the state's department of conservation and economic development.

Although the report under consideration concerns the state at large, the specific problems of the Princeton area will also be considered by the League, according to Mrs. C. Harry Kahn, chairman of the Princeton League's regional planning study group.

On Tuesday, these units will meet: Cedar Lane-Washington Road, 1 p.m., 58 College Road, Mrs. Carl Oberman, chairman; Lawrence, 8:15 p.m., 22 Lumar Road, Mrs. Irving Seidman, chairman.

On Wednesday, West end, 10 a.m., 47 Westcott Road, Mrs. Seward Hiltner, chairman; Riverside, 8:15 p.m., 95 Longview Drive, Mrs. Marvin Soffen, chairman; Littlebrook-Overbrook, 8:15, 54 Rollingmead, Mrs. Parker Hayden, chairman; central, 8:15, 292 Russell Road, Mrs. Oakes Ames, chairman; Stanworth-Mt. THE BIG SQUEEZE ON TAXES
Middle and Lower Income Groups are Caught between High Costs and a Soaring Tax Rate

- High initial cost of property and the constantly mounting tax rate effectively prevent low-income families from re-locating in the Township. Many NATIVE Princetonians are being squeezed out.
- A residential community like Princeton, which rules out manufacturing plants, cannot survive (except as a high-income compound) without revenues from research laboratories, general office buildings, commercial establishments, inns and hotels.
- Some four years ago, the hundreds of acres behind Opinion Research Corporation were re-zoned for research and engineering.

WHY IS THIS AREA EMPTY TODAY?

- Some three years ago, the Township Committee appointed a number of private citizens to its Economic Development Commission. This committee was to attract research and engineering groups. How often has this EDC met? HAS IT EVER MET?
- Does the Township Committee plan to return these Research and Engineering zones to residential 1½-acre and 2-acre plots? This will mean more school children and higher taxes. Today, more than 55 cents of every local tax dollar is spent on schooling.
- The real disgrace here is that Princton needs additional commercial revenues now for recreation, a new library, sewers and water, not to mention new shade trees and landscaping.

Old School House Road, were each fined for speeding Monday by Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr. Mr. Cupples was fined $19; Mr. Spruill, $18.

Jack Arecco, Jr., 19, Spring Hill Road, Skillman, was fined $15 for a noisy muffler violation; Kenneth Bordner, 22, 512 Laughlin Hall, Princeton University, was fined $10, improper display of plates. In criminal court, another University student, Robert D. Snedeker, 19, was fined $25 as a minor in possession of alcohol. He pleaded guilty.

MEETING WEDNESDAY

Of Friends of Public Library. The first annual meeting of the Friends of the Princeton Public Library will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the lounge of the Institute for Advanced Study. The public is invited.

A film strip produced by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bell of On Film, Inc. and a talk by James A. Perkins, vice-president of the Carnegie Corporation, will highlight the meeting. The Library Board of Trustees will give its report, as will the Friends, to the membership. The annual election will also be held.

FESTIVAL PLANNED

With Folk Theme. Authentic folk-singers, recruited and sponsored by the "Friends of Old-Time Music," will appear at the first New Jersey Folk Festival to be held in Roosevelt this Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the new Roosevlet Amphitheatre.

Doc Watson, blind musician known for his way with a guitar, banjo, mandolin and mouth-harp, will lead the group, offering old country-church hymns as well as folk music. He will also appear in a trio consisting of Arnold Watson, his brother, and Gaither Carlton, his father-in-law..

The fourth performer will be Jesse Fuller, blues singer who has become famous for his "San Francisco Blues." "Friends of Old-Time Music" sponsor only authentic music, and they point out to audiences that Mr. Fuller is a native-born Georgian (though he now lives in San Francisco) who grew up with the blues. The Watson family comes from North Carolina.

The Festival has been arranged as the start of a tour which will move on to Cornell University and to engagements in Boston and New York. Admission to the Roosevelt Festival will be $1.50.

SERVICE AWARD GIVEN

To Education Leader. Commissioner of Education Frederick M. Raubinger has been named recipient of the New Jersey Association's Distinguished Service Award. Dr. Raubinger was selected for "his leadership, insistence on high educational standards and emphasis on good teaching," the association said. Mr. Raubinger lives at 55 Battle Road.

Given annually to an individual or group who is of service to the schools, the award will be presented on Thursday, November 8. Dr. Raubinger will receive it at the association's convention in Atlantic City's Convention Hall.

Dr. Raubinger, currently serving his third five-year term as commissioner, is president of the National Association of Chief State School Officers. Under his leadership, the state's school system has been expanded to provide more college places for qualified graduates of New Jersey high schools. Rutgers, Newark College of Engineering and the six State Colleges have doubled their enrollments since he took office, while his department has also developed a complete program for two-year county junior colleges and technical institutes.

Leaf Raking Instructions

Borough Council asks all residents to pile leaves for collection between the sidewalks and the curb.

No leaves are to be left in the gutters because of the danger of fire spreading to a parked car, and the risk that children playing in the piles may be struck by a car.

AWARDS PRESENTED

At Pack 56 Meeting. Bobcat pins were presented to James Parr, Willard Chartier and Robert Basco at the first meeting of Cub Scout Pack 56 held in St. Paul's Church. Den mothers Mrs. John O'Donoghue and Mrs. Thomas Moran received service stars.

The new cubmaster is Edward McCloskey. He will be assisted by Robert O'Conner, John Robotti and Edward Holcombe, pack chairman. Committee members include John Stachowicz, Richard Magee, David McDonald, Agillo Rannallo, Joseph Reef and Anthony LaPlaca. Den mothers are Mrs. Robert Cocciolillo, Mrs. Richard Panicaro, Mrs. Edward Holcombe and Mrs. O'Donoghue.

The pack is open to boys from 8 to 11. Any boy interested is invited to attend the next meeting which will be held October 25 in St. Paul's auditorium at 7.30. Newcomers must be accompanied by their parents.

Obituaries

Thomas B. Nicholson, 72, died October 8 at the Veteran's Hospital, East Orange after a brief illness. His home was at 277 Franklin Avenue.

A resident of Princeton for more than 35 years, he retired in 1955 as a professor of mathematics at the Brooklyn branch of City College of New York. He was graduated from Princeton University in 1915 and received his master's degree from Columbia. He served in the U.S. Army during World War I and was a former headmaster of the Double L Bar Ranch School in Wyoming.

His wife, Mrs. Eileen M. Nicholson, survives. The funeral was held in the Lady Chapel of Trinity Church and interment was private.

Garrett S. Boetsma died October 4 at his home, "The Netherlands," on Rosedale Road. He was a vice-president of Trenton Trust Company.

Graduated in 1907 from Mt. Hermon School for Boys, he served as general manager of domestic operations for standard Oil of New Jersey, and later became president of the Prospect National Bank. Trenton When the bank merged with the Trenton Trust Company, he joined the company as vice-president.

Mr. Boetsma worked with Rutgers University's war training program during World War II. He was a charter member of the Ewing Lawrence Sewerage Authority and was currently serving as treasurer of the Columbus Boy Choir School. He belonged to the West Orange Lodge 205, F and AM.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Cora M. Boetsma; a son, R. Garrett of Princeton; a sister, Mrs. William Hammon of Wayne; and two grandsoons.

The funeral was held at Rosedale Chapel, the Rev. S. S. Rizzo officiating. Interment was in Ewing Cemetery under direction of the Mather Funeral Home

Mrs. Emma Grace Stryker, 86, of 22 Front Street, Hopewell, died October 8 at her home following a long illness. She was the widow of William P. Stryker.

Born in Hopewell Township, she had lived in Hopewell for the past 43 years. She was a charter member of the Col. Joseph Stout Chapter, DAR.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. John L. Herold of Trenton; Miss Ethel Stryker and Mrs. Katherine Hall of Hopewell; a son, Jay W. of Trenton; a brother, Wilmer Moore of Hopewell; and four grandchildren.

A private funeral was held.

Mrs. Rose Fuchs Hoffman, 79, of 54 Dublin Road, died October 7. She was the widow of John Hoffman, and had lived in Pennington since 1920.

Her survivors are three daughters, Mrs. George Winkler and Mrs. Joseph E. Kamrad of Pennington and Mrs. Leonard W. Harding of Jersey City; two sons, Henry P. of Trenton and John F. of Pennington; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Kiefer of Princeton and Mrs. Marie Feldenzer of Trenton; a brother, Benedict Fucks of Trenton; and five grandchildren.

Requiem high mas was celebrated at St. James Church. Burial was in Our Lady of Lourdes Cemetery.

Mrs. Vera K. Goldsmith, 38, of the Pennington-Lawrenceville Road, died October 8 in Princeton Hospital. She was a native of Germany.

Survivors are her husband, Jerry Goldsmith; two sons, Peter and Steven; and her mother, Mrs. Leopold Rosenbaum of New York.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, with Rabbi Everett Gendler of the Princeton Jewish Center officiating. Interment was in Beth Israel Cemetery, Woodbridge.

PROBLEMS CONSOLIDATION WILL SOLVE BEST FOR YOU

MASTER PLANS

Do You Remember...

• What do you remember about Master Plans?

• The last time a Master Plan was sent back for revision? And the time before that?

• Any time when the Township Master Plan and the Borough Master Plan together tried to solve the problems of our one community?

And Do You Realize that ...

• The Borough is paying tax-payers' money for one professional planner, the Township is paying tax-payers' money for another planner — but never the twain shall meet?

• Princeton can hope to escape megalopolis, that growing suburban facelessness which threatens to engulf us from Maine to Virginia, only by acting as one community to preserve its character?

• No two master plans can accomplish anything in a never-never land of two communities, that the only master plan which will pay its keep must do so in the reality of one community?

PARKING AND TRAFFIC

Do You Remember...

• What the center of town looked like before black-topped parking lots displaced people?

• The last time anybody did anything, instead of just talking, about the traffic problem? Any time both governing bodies ever did anything together to solve it?

• The last time you wondered why all the trucks and trailer-trucks, station wagons and passenger-cars were driving through town, and where the buses were taking people who only work here?

Do You Realize that...

• The traffic of last year's Yale game is the everyday traffic of the future?

• If Palmer Square, Inc. is allowed to build a new office building on Palmer Square, it will bring more than 170 additional automobiles to that area? That displaced parkers will clutter other parking lots?

• Double-decked lots, better looking than black-top, can restore land for the use of people?

These unwise and costly conditions, equally harmful to Borough and Township, can be corrected by:

1. One professional planner responsible to one consolidated Princeton government.

2. A comprehensive understanding of the total traffic and parking problem as it exists now and will be in the years ahead. Then decisive action by the only body that can take it: a consolidated Princeton government. Our town and its citizens must regain control of their future.

We are pleased to see that the directors of the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council are also asking whether Princeton can afford two of everything. We believe that the only questions about consolidation are when and how — not whether.

Consolidation can be accomplished without loss of jobs or change of status by people in Borough and Township municipal employ or volunteer services. Consolidation can be accomplished without creating unfair tax burdens, because the law (Title 40, Chapter 43, Section 66.6) permits setting differential tax rates, based upon existing debts.

Why I Plan to Vote Republican

By Charles R. Erdman

I plan to vote for Bill Walker and Al Sorenson for the Borough Council for many reasons. They are certainly the best qualified candidates for the job having already served on the Borough Council for three years and nine years respectively. In fact, Bill Walker is the current president of the Council and Al Sorenson is a past president and its senior member in point of service.

Having lived in town for more than 20 years and being taxpayers in the Borough, Bill Walker and Al Sorenson have a first-hand knowledge and understanding of the problems which face Princeton. They have seen the town develop over the years and don't have to ask others for the background on situations as they arise.

The question of the high Borough tax rate has been raised often. The truth of the matter is that the Borough's portion of the tax rate has remained relatively stationary for the past couple of years while the portion of taxes taken by the County has skyrocketed.

Bill Walker and Al Sorenson as members of the Borough Council for the past several years had a hand in helping to hold the tax rate in line and should be commended for their fine job. Those who have been raising questions on the high tax rate should turn their attention to the Freeholders of Mercer County who have raised taxes tremendously and have not given much in return.

The personal background of both Bill Walker and Al Sorenson also makes these men well qualified for their jobs as members of the Borough Council. Bill Walker was a member and president of the Board of Health before he was elected to the Borough Council for the first time. And presently, as an active registered architect in Princeton, Bill comes in close contact with many citizens in the course of his daily work.

Al Sorenson has been a graduate engineer for many years and at the present time is an associate professor of mechanical engineering on the faculty of Princeton University and in charge of all mechanical equipment in the new Engineering Quadrangle. This engineering background is invaluable when he is faced with the many technical problems that come before the Borough Council in the course of a year. Being an engineer, Al Sorenson can understand and work very closely with consultants and advisors called in on specific Borough problems.

There are many reasons that I could enumerate which influence me to support Bill Walker and Al Sorenson, the Republican candidates for re-election to the Borough Council. However, these can all be summarized fairly briefly by saying that Bill Walker and Al Sorenson are experienced, progressive men who have lived and worked in Princeton for many years and who know their fellow Princetonians and their feelings and attitudes on the various problems that face this town. Bill Walker and Al Sorenson are the type of men I would trust to help govern our town.

Democratic

By Mary Perone

James Andrews and Shaw Livermore give promise of doing on the local scene what Frank Thompson does on Capitol Hill; that is, giving constituents a balance of vigorous leadership and responsive representation. Young, intelligent and energetic, Andrews and Livermore have analyzed our problems and come up with reasoned and democratic answers.

They know that the majority of us want to preserve what is good and beautiful in this town, but they recognize that change is inevitable.

Already, on every side, we see the pressures of change bearing down on us in questions of water, sewers, traffic and parking.

For all the talk through the years, we are still a long way from an acceptable Master Plan for the Borough, and even farther from one which makes sense as a part of the larger community of which we are an inescapable part.

And without reasonable planning, in which the views and needs of all of us are considered, the ever more important questions of schools, housing for the less-than-rich, and recreation will continue to be a matter of too little too late.

James Andrews and Shaw Livermore ask us to wake up to the challenge of change so that PRINCETONIANS and not the unthinking pressures of population and economics and traffic) channel and control that change.

In effect they are saying that Princetonians—all of us—are smart enough and far-seeing enough and strong enough to be masters of our fate.

But they say that this can come only if all of us—of any color or creed, old Princetonians and new Princetonians alike—plan and work together. And they mean plan and work FOR all of us.

That is the democratic answer and that's why I'm voting Democratic.

Who's Who?

"Why I Plan to Vote," now in its second decade, is one of TOWN TOPICS' most popular features, presented each year at election time as a public service to Princeton voters. With this issue, "Why I Plan to Vote" presents the first of four pairs of articles on Borough and Township contests. This week: Borough candidates.

Charles R. Erdman, writing on the Republican side, served for 12 years as mayor of the Borough, and is now a member of the Borough Planning Board. Active for many years in state Republican circles, he was named state chairman of the party in 1958.

The son of the late Rev. Dr. Charles R. Erdman, he was graduated from Princeton in 1920. After receiving his doctorate, he taught at the University for a number of years.

Mary Perone, writing for the Democrats, has been working with the party for 18 years, and has been for 16 years Committeewoman for the Borough's District 6. Miss Perone has served on the state Democratic Committee, and is a member of the county Welfare Board.

One of 11 children, all of whom are Borough or Township residents, Miss Perone was born in Princeton and was graduated from Princeton High School. She has been buyer and saleslady for the Thorne Pharmacy for 14 years.

$46,650 RAISED TO DATE

In Combined Drive. The United Fund-Red Cross Combined Campaign has raised $46,650, or 15% of its $312,797 goal.

The campaign chairman, Robert P Popino, said early returns indicated an increase in the amount of contributions over past years. He said that if the drive is to reach its goal, donors must give as much in one gift as they would in separate campaigns, plus an additional ten percent.

Mr Popino cited for praise the gifts of several institutions, including that of American Cyanamid, which was 30 percent more than that of last year. He also reported the following increases: The First National Bank of Princeton, 50 percent; The Institute for Advanced Study, 100 percent; Western Electric, 20 percent; Mettler Instrument, 18 percent; Industrial Reactor, ten percent; and Hercules Powder, 20 percent.

Returns thus far by division show $31,400 in special gifts, $11,350 in research and industrial, $1,600 in professions, $1,200 in neighborhood and $1,100 in mercantile. Mr Popino said over 1500 men and women are helping in the solicitation of gifts.

ARCHBISHOP TO SPEAK

Next Week at Seminary. The Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev Arthur M Ramsey, will speak at 10 a.m. next Wednesday in Miller Chapel. His address will open the second lecture series in the Princeton Theological Seminary's Sesquicentennial celebration

Archbishop Ramsay will also deliver an address at 8 p.m. in Princeton University Chapel, and be present for the 7:15 p.m. commonion service in Trinity Church the following morning On Tuesday, before coming to Princeton, he is scheduled to speak at an 8 p.m. choral evensong at Trinity Cathedral, Trenton.

Other Lecturers. Three churchmen are scheduled to lead a week-long lecture series at the Seminary beginning November 12. The speakers will be The Rev. Dr. John A. Mackay, former president of the Seminary; the Rev. Dr. Kenneth J. Forman, emeritus professor of doctrinal theology at Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary, and the Rev. Dr. Paul L. Lehman, professor of divinity at Harvard University and former Seminary faculty member.

Dr. McKay, who retired in 1957, will lecture on the Students' Lectureship on Missions The former Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., now a part of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., he has served as president of the International Missionary Council and of the World Presbyterian Alliance.

Arts Festival Planned. Six concerts are planned for the Seminary's Arts Festival, opening on October 24 with a performance by the Stringart Quartet.

Other concerts will be: December 18, an Advent and Christmas recital by the Seminary Oratorio Choir; January 10, pianist Artur Balsam; February 6, orchestral and choral concert by a group from the Philadelphia Orchestra led by Nicholas Harsanyi; March 25, the Bach Aria Group of Princeton; and June 5, harpist Susanne Rowles and folk singer Tucky Ramus, both of Princeton.

YOUTH FINED $305

In Assault Case. A Princeton teen-ager was fined $305 by Township Magistrate James S. Hill last week for assault and battery.

Richard S. Traegler, 18, 28 Chestnut Street, pleaded not guilty to an attack April 29 on William E. Kane, a Princeton University sophomore. The complainant charged that he and his date had been set upon while walking at night on one of the University's playing fields.

Mr. Kane suffered minor bruises and the girl escaped untouched, said Sergeant Frederick M Porter who investigated the case. Three other

Question of the Week

Question: If possible, would you want to know the sex of your (wife's) unborn child ahead of time?

Where asked: Palmer Square

Mrs. Robert Silvester, 37 Maple Street, clerk, Allen's: No, I'd rather wait until the last minute. When the doctor holds up the baby and you ask if it's a boy or a girl, that's the time to find out. That's the way it should be. They should let nature take its course.

Mrs. Clara Esch, Hightstown, clerk, Allen's: No, I don't think so. You may be disappointed even before you have it. This isn't good. I think it is more exciting not, knowing what it will be.

David Popenoe, 1 Glenview Drive, member of Rutgers University faculty: That's a good question, since we are expecting our first born today or tomorrow. Yes, I think it would, because I would just like to be able to predict in advance what is coming in every area of human affairs.

Mrs. Thomas Godolphin, 50 Broadripple Drive, housewife: I'd say the only advantage to it would be in terms of buying clothes, nursery equipment and naming it. If you can accept the disappointment of the sex of the child, if it isn't what you wanted, you have a longer time in which to accept it; if you can't, you have a longer time in which to brood over it. Personally, I wouldn't want to know because I think part of the excitement of giving birth to a child is discovering then what the sex is. I think if you knew ahead of time what the sex was, the birth itself wouldn't be quite as exciting.

Allen W. Hartley, 164 Valley Road, tree expert: No. I think one of the joys of having children is receiving the gift, so to speak, of not knowing what the sex will be.

Mrs. Annagreta Wighiman, 30 College Road, housewife: No, I wouldn't care either way. As long as it is a healthy child, that is the only important thing.

John B. Rogerson, 2 Colonial Avenue, Princeton Junction, astronomer: Yes, I would. In my particular case, we already had two boys and we had another birth recently and I would have loved to know ahead of time what it was. (It was another boy.) It doesn't make any difference, of course, afterwards. If you knew ahead of time, though, one would have a chance to get the right clothing and so forth.

Mrs. Paul DeCeltes, 95 Einstein Drive, housewife: No, I think half of the fun is the surprise and it would take some of the thrill out of it for me. Obviously, there would be some advantages, but I couldn't care less.

Hamilton Ross, Mt. Rose Road, Pennington, architectural draftsman: No. I feel the obvious thing is that it would detract from the excitement that is derived from the actual physical birth.

Mrs. C. Reynolds Bishop, Jr., 166 Wilson Road, housewife: No, I think you have to accept whatever God gives you. I don't think it matters much what you have. I think if you knew about it ahead of time, everyone would want all boys. I think the balance between sexes would be very strange. Everybody feels sorry for me for having three girls, but I don't feel that way at all.

Mrs. Albert Altman, 220-B Marshall Street, housewife: Yes, I think so. I think one can plan certain things, particularly if one has other children. Clothing for example. You'd know what to bring out of storage, what to buy, etc. If it were a boy, you could already be planning how he would become a future president of the United States! It does do away with the element of surprise, but I think most people would want to know ahead of time. It's just a case of being disappointed ahead of time if you want a boy and it's a girl.

Mrs. Joan Kosinski, 9 Hardin Road, housewife: No, I should not. Mainly because nine months is a long time. You need something to look forward to; it is an element of surprise. Some things should not be tampered with. This is one.

Mrs. Godfrey Winham, 100 Hodge Road, housewife: No, I think the beauty of having a child is partly in the mystery of not knowing whether it is going to be a boy or a girl.

Werner Kelber, graduate student at the Theological Seminary: I would say no, because if I could know it ahead of time either I would not be satisfied or I would indulge in too many preparations. I think it is better we don't know ahead of time and leave it up to nature.

Miss Judith Dill, Trenton, secretary, Princeton University: No, I think it would take away from the excitement of not knowing. Wouldn't life be a bore if we knew all the answers to everything ahead of time? How wonderful it is to know just when it is born, to hear the doctor say, "it's a boy," or "it's a girl."

Miss Sara Smith, Pennington Road, Trenton, secretary, Citizens Research Foundation, 245 Nassau Street: From a practical point of view, it would be easier for parents to plan ahead. They would know what type of clothing to buy, what color; it would be helpful in the event of showers, even in naming the baby.

GUILD TO MEET

On November 8, The Princeton branch of the Needlework Guild of America will hold its first fall meeting on Thursday, November 8, in the social room of the First Presbyterian Church.

For the first time this year the Guild will donate new articles of clothing and household linens to Deborah Hospital at Browns Mills. Mrs. Clara Franks, the hospital's director, will speak at the November meeting on the functions of the institution, which is supported by voluntary contributions.

Among the 20 organizations receiving new garments and bedding each year from the Guild are the Florence Crittenden Home, St. Michael's Orphanage in Hopewell, Methodist Home for the Aged in Ocean Grove, Witherspoon Presbyterian Church and the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad.

The Guild is a non-sectarian group, founded in Princeton in 1893. Mrs. Joseph R. Nini is president of the Princeton branch. She is also a member of the national board of the Needlework Guild of America.

NEWCOMERS TO EXPLORE

Will Toor Beatty House. The Newcomers' Town and Country group will take a guided tour of the historic Beatty House on Friday. Mrs. C. W. Leigh, owner of the recently renovated mansion, will relate its history and show her extensive collection of Eighteenth Century furniture.

The group will meet at the YW-YMCA at 9:30 a.m., where nursery care for young children will be available.

PUPPET SHOWS PLANNED

For This Weekend. The Peacock Puppet Theatre will give four shows this weekend at Photography and Art Center, 100 Nassau Street.

The performances will mark the opening of the Center's birthday party planner department. Punch, Judy and all the characters of traditional puppetry will appear, including knights in shining armor and bejeweled princes and princesses.

Shows are scheduled for Friday at 3:30 and 4:30 and Saturday at 2 and 3.

PATRONS ANNOUNCED

For Scholarship Ball. The annual Vassar Scholarship Ball will be held October 20 in the gymnasium of Miss Fine's School. Mrs. J. Harris Mathey is in charge of decorations,

. . . then along came Quaker Maid

"My husband and I never thought that there could be so much space in our kitchen," says Mrs. Harold Curtis of Jacobs Creek Road. Planning the new kitchen, according to the proud new owner, was a team effort. The Curtis' made the final decision on everything including door knobs and hinges. "The Quaker Maid staff suggested many practical innovations such as building corner cabinets at an angle instead of straight against the wall. They also designed an artificial brick setting which contains the oven and range," she said. One idea that has worked out well is Mrs. Curtis' suggestion that instead of having a cupboard for storing kitchen utensils four large drawers be installed beneath the oven and range.

If you're thinking about installing a new kitchen or remodelling your present kitchen visit the Quaker Maid Kitchen showroom.

Confused Geography.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

I'm afraid that TOWN TOPICS has given "megolopolis" an unwelcome shot of energy. I was quite surprised to read that Dr. Chester R. Stroup (Princeton's "Man of the Week") had spent nearly a decade in Georgetown, Delaware, that straddles the Delaware-Chesapeake Ship Canal on the edge of Maryland's Eastern Shore.

Georgetown, Delaware, is about eighty miles from the canal and is on the Eastern Shore of Delaware—not Maryland. The name of the canal is Chesapeake & Delaware following the natural sequence of the alphabet.

Irrelevant, but perhaps interesting to some of your readers, not too many years ago steamboats similar to the "Anthony B. Groves, Jr.", a three-decker for freight and passengers, used to ply the Chesapeake & Delaware Canal AND the Delaware & Raritan Canal in regular service between New York and Baltimore via the inland waterway of that period, making lower Alexander Street a normal port-of-call. It seems hard to imagine that one could obtain steamship accommodations from Princeton to New York, Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore, though NOT to Georgetown.

I rather imagine that Dr. Stroup remembers the steamboat service at St. George, Delaware, on the aforementioned canal and was kind of edited out of his former domicile.

We are really quite fond of TOWN TOPICS.

O. G. KLINGER
Quaker Road

Editor's Note: The editor responsible relied on a faulty memory rather than an atlas, confusing St. Georges on the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal with Georgetown, county seat of Sussex County in Southern Delaware.

ART FESTIVAL PLANNED

Scope Is Widened. The third Festival of the Arts, scheduled for November 3-6 at Miss Fine's School, promises to be the most ambitious to date, according to Mrs. August K. Mills, festival chairman. Assisting her will be Mrs. Robert P. Wright, vice-chairman, and Mrs. Bertram F. Bonner, treasurer.

The show will include a Contemporary Arts section, a loan collection displayed in period rooms and an exhibit of furniture and memorabilia of Princeton 1783 — a time when the village served briefly as the nation's capital.

Mrs. Frederick B. Adams, Jr., is chairman of the Contemporary Arts display. The items will be for sale.

Prints selected by Mrs. Michael Ramus will include the works of Chagall, Henry Moore, Orozco, Daumier, Picasso and Roulault as well as promising newcomers. Artisians from the New York-Philadelphia area will exhibit ceramics, metal work, jewelry, weaving and cabinet work, under the direction of Mrs. J. Malcolm Muir.

Painters to be represented include Edward John Stevens, Betty Gaye, Valdi Maris and Jone Jones; sculptors include Brian Watkins, Lippold Peosner and Gabo. Madeleine Vanderpool and Forrest Wilson.

The international Folk Art exhibit, arranged by Mrs. Christian Aall in cooperation with the Brooklyn Museum, will include a variety of unusual art objects from the Far East, Europe and Africa.

Masters On Loan. In the period rooms, furnished with authentic Eighteenth and Nineteenth Century furniture, will be an exhibition of paintings by Constable, Pissarro, Renoir, Sisely, Vuillard, Reynolds and Raeburn loaned by Princeton residents.

Mrs. Roland T. Ely and Professor Ernest de Wald are in charge of the paintings. Mrs. Kenneth Chorley will do the American Room, Mrs. Richard V. Lindabury the English Room, while Mrs. Walter E. Edge and Mrs. C. Reinhold Noyes will arrange the French Room.

Mrs. Gordon Knox has gained the assistance of the Historical Societies of New Jersey, Princeton University and many New Jersey residents for the display of historic Princeton. The exhibit will show the "comfortable accommodation" which the village promised members of the Continental Congress upon their flight from Philadelphia. The items on view will include documents pertaining to the notables and, most particularly, to the townspeople, who found their quiet hamlet of some 40 houses turned into the nation's capital from June 27 through November 4, 1783.

Proceeds from the festival will go to the May Margaret Fine Endowment Fund, set up for scholarship aid, teachers' salaries or other such purposes. Admission is $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for students and children.

INSTRUCTION OFFERED

In Phone Courtesy. The Princeton office of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company and the Princeton Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a series of classes in telephone techniques and courtesy on Wednesday, October 24, in the university room of the Nassau Inn.

Classes will be given at 10 a.m., 2:30 and 4 p.m. Each will last one hour. The classes are free and are given as a means of helping business firms improve their use of the telephone. Instruction will include color films, tape recordings and discussions.

PENN NO PROBLEM

For Well-Balanced Tigers. In the first eight or ten years after World War II, the early October meeting with Pennsylvania was always a major game on Princeton's schedule. The well-manned, deftly-coached Quakers were a prime target of the Tigers — and it was not always that the Princetonians won.

In fact, from 1947 through 1952, Princeton lost four of the five games played — the last snapping the 24-game winning streak it had compiled over three seasons. Since then, however, Penn's problems have been multiplying steadily and in the eight meetings between the two traditional rivals since 1954, the Philadelphians have been victorious only once.

When the 1962 edition of this series that began in 1876 is played Saturday at Franklin Field (game-time, 1:30), Princeton and Penn will have one thing in common. Both will deploy in the single wing as taught them by devoted disciples of Charlie Caldwell. There, the similarity ends.

Princeton has greater depth than any Ivy League entry has fielded in the last decade, with the probable exception of Yale's unbeaten team of 1960. The Tigers are riding high on the crest of their best start in five years, and have their sights set on their first Ivy crown in that many seasons.

Quakers' Morale Low. In sharp contrast, Pennsylvania is markedly short of topflight players — although its squad is deep enough to allow it to field three separate teams. But the question at Philadelphia is whether the Quakers, who finished seventh with a 1-6 mark a year ago, can escape the cellar in 1962.

Hand-in-hand with that is the speculation whether John Stiegman is in his last year as coach. The combination is hardly one calculated to create bubbling optimism, and after the incredible performance that the Quakers gave at Hanover last week, the gloom must be as thick as the New Hampshire mud in which the game was played.

In losing to Dartmouth about as expected (17-0), Penn managed the unexpected: it set an Ivy League record in failing to record a first down; never got beyond its own 45 yard line; and finished the soggy afternoon with a debit on attack of minus four yards.

Had this performance been part of a scoreless tie, the answer would undoubtedly have been that the miserable weather conditions topped man's best efforts. But in the same mud and rain and presumably on the same field, Dartmouth ran for 260 yards, completed eight of 16 passes for 60 more and scored two touchdowns and a 33-yard field goal.

No Backs at Penn. While many factors are contributing to Pennsylvania's difficulties, the basic shortage appears to be the total lack of a single player who can run and pass. Since a single wing team must have a twin threat at tailback even more than a T offense needs a capable quarterback, the Quakers are fundamentally punchless. Last year, they were last in team offense with a meagre output of 175 yards a game.

Penn's tailback, 175-lb John Owens, is almost as fast as Hugh MacMillan, but he cannot throw accurately and thus has trouble running through a packed defense. Pete McCarthy, a light fullback who weighs only 180, has the same problem, plus the fact that the Quaker line is not as sharp in its blocking as a good ground game requires. So far apart is the backfield strength at the two colleges that it seems certain that Dave Ibbeken would be the starting tailback at Penn. At Princeton, he is fourth string.

Up front, the Quakers average 201, but virtually all of the poundage is provided by tackles Terry Hensle and Fred Valetich, who weigh 220 and 240 respectively. Captain Bill Hardaker (198) is a good center, but the starting guards are not only light (around 183) but both are sophomores.

Despite their myriad problems, the home forces will have two things going for them: like Rutgers, they'd rather beat Princeton than anyone, and if they some how manage to get the jump on the Orange and Black, they could be tough to overcome.

Secondly, Stelgman's forte is defensive strategy, and he can teach it well against the single wing with which he is so familiar. Last fall, he held a Princeton team fresh from its 30-20 victory over Columbia to 9-3, and it took a fourth-period goal-line interception by the Tigers to stave off defeat.

If Penn somehow manages to achieve what would have to be the Ivy League's biggest upset of the season, Stiegman's return to his job next fall would be a good deal, better bet. Apparently, however, both are unlikely to occur.

FIVE AGAINST ONE, BUT HE MADE IT: Dave Ibbeken (arrow) was caught in a traffic jam of major proportions two yards short of the goal line in Saturday's Columbia game. No less than five tacklers ganged up on him, but his drive carried him well across the goal line for Princeton's fifth touchdown.

Stiegman on the Spot

Four days before the 1962 football season opened, the Daily Pennsylvanian, undergraduate newspaper, demanded that Coach John Stiegman be replaced at the end of the current campaign. The one-time Princeton assistant, who served here under Charlie Caldwell from 1946 to 1955, was the target of these comments:

"Stiegman came to the University from Rutgers with the reputation of being a superior strategist, a fine coach, an incurable optimist and a tongue-in-cheek humorist. In living up to these standards during his tenure here, he is batting an icy and unpopular .000. . . .

". . . There is clearly a complete lack of communication between coach and players, with Stiegman's stern taciturnity serving only to lower team morale, which the coach may have shattered beyond repair with such asinine and tactless training camp quotes to the press as 'The kids have good attitude. Unfortunately, the other teams have the talent' or 'This will be a well-balanced league. Seven teams will be good and we'll be lousy.'"

After berating the coach for his use of the "anachronistic, impractical single wing, the paper concludes:

"To Stiegman himself, we merely offer the advice of one Horace Greeley: 'Go West, young man, go West.' Perhaps in Japan the single wing is in its heyday.

He's phoning just to say "hello"

COLUMBIA OVERPOWERED

By Tigers' Ground Game. A stubborn Columbia team, which wasn't too far away from walking into the locker room at half time with a 7-7 tie, became an eventual 33-0 victim of Princeton on Saturday. The outcome tacked another year onto the longest domination of the Tigers over an Ivy rival, raising to 17 the number of seasons that have gone by since the Light Blue last prevailed in this series.

While it was Princeton's good blocking and agile backs to which the victory must largely be credited, it was constantly-improving defensive play that broke the game open. Late in the first half, Princeton had only a 7-0 lead and Columbia had the ball, second and ten, on the Tiger 20.

Quarterback Archie Roberts (whom the Los Angeles Rams were scouting in Palmer Stadium) passed from the 24 but sophomore end Jim Batcheller deflected the ball and 230-lb. tackle Bill Wright snared it. With Batcheller following to provide a key block, Wright lumbered 73 yards his jersey number for the touchdown that put the game beyond reach of the undermanned Lions.

As the game progressed, increasing pressure applied by charging Princeton linemen kept Roberts' fine passing ability in check. He completed the first four aerials he tried, finished the day with a good 10 for 21 and might have brought his team even just before the half ended had pat Batcheller and Wright been camped in his backfield.

Once again, Princeton showed its power on the ground, running for 291 yards and passing just enough (nine for 67 yards) to loosen up the defense. And for the second Saturday in a row, depth told the story, players third and fourth on the depth chart chalking up a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns.

After a scoreless first period, Princeton racked up its five touchdowns this way:

- Eighty-six yards in 12 plays, all of them on the ground, Cosmo Iacavazzi hurtling through the middle from two yards out.
- Seventy-six yards in one play — Wright's interception for what is the longest such scoring run by a lineman within memory. Others: end Joe DiReno vs Yale in 1953, 18 yards; tackle Dick Valentzas vs. Lafayette in 1949, 23 yards.
- Sixty-two yards in four plays (two in the air), Greg Riley going through the middle and cutting to the left for the TD from 13 yards out.
- Fifty-five yards in five plays, fullback Brad Urquhart carrying the ball on three straight plays for the final 15 yards.
- Fifty-six yards in eight plays (aided by a 15-yard penalty for Columbia's unsportsmanlike conduct when an assistant coach sassed referee Ed Myer from the sidelines), Dave Ibiseken carrying six times and scoring from three yards out on a fine effort.

DAYLIGHT ROBBERY: Jim Rockenbach (15), three inches shorter than Columbia's six-foot halfback, Roger Dennis, goes high to intercept pass on Princeton 32. The Tiger wingback executed the play perfectly, because he already had Dennis boxed out of the action as a possible receiver.

Random Notes. Greg Riley was credited with 105 yards (63 running, 42 passing on three of four attempts) but Roberts topped him for the day with 99 yards passing and 13 more running for 112. Because Roberts is such a one-man offense, and Princeton's great fullback depth permits frequent substitution for Riley, the Columbia sophomore may well beat him out for individual yardage honors this season.

Bill Robinson became the first sophomore to start a game this season when the veteran end, Barry Schuman, was sidelined with an injury. The newcomer contributed a knee-high jump pass reception that kept the first touchdown drive in motion and recovered a fumble that set up another scoring march.

A meagre crowd of 14,000 saw the game, held down by the morning clouds and forecast of more rain. The turnout at Philadelphia Saturday will not go much above 20,000, even on a crisp day.

Princeton injury list grew no larger as a result of the Columbia game. However, Rockenbach is visibly hobbled by his leg troubles and both end Barry Schuman and center Bob Burrus remain question marks.

TRENTON WILL BE TOUGH

As PHS Seeks First Win. The Princeton High School football team, currently 0-3 following a 13 to 6 defeat by Hackettstown, will be seeking its first win of the season Sat-

BILL WRIGHT
Princeton Tackle

A 230-lb. tackle, whose name does not appear on the three-deep chart used in the Palmer Stadium press box, broke up Saturday's football game against Columbia with a 76-yard touchdown run following an interception. His contribution may be typical of this fall's team at Princeton: the squad is so deep that well down the line players are quite likely to make major contributions to the outcome.

Wright's fascinating jaunt toward the goal line (in college football, the sight of a 6-4, 230-lb. "ball carrier" rumbling downfield may go unduplicated for a decade) was made possible because he was in the right place at the right time, and no pun intended. Dick Colman sent him in to aid in the pass rush on Archie Roberts, and when sophomore Jim Batcheller hit the Columbia quarterback from his blind spot to cause the deflection, Wright was four yards into the Lion backfield.

The trip to the end zone, 76 yards away, was a long one in point of view of time (could it have been as much as 42 seconds?) and also the longest in post-war Princeton football. Chances are you have to go back to 1935, when an equally tall, but not quite as heavy tackle (Charlie Toll) covered well over half the field after batting an attempted Harvard pass into the air and picking it off himself to go the distance.

Colman credited Wright with having made the play that was the definite turning point of the game. Had the Lions gone on to score, and drawn even just before the half, he pointed out, winning in the final two periods would have been far more difficult.

A senior who won his letter a year ago, Wright can credit his presence on the football team to one basic characteristic: hard work. The interior linemen have no tougher job than the ends and the backs in completing practice assignments, but on Saturday it is a football rarity when they have a share in any of the glory that goes with scoring a touchdown.

Last week, Bill Wright proved the exception, and those banked around the Princeton side of Palmer Stadium enjoyed the occasion almost as much as he did.

urday when it meets an ancient rival, Trenton High School. The game will start at 2 on Harris Field.

The rivalry between Trenton High and Princeton dates backs to the 1920's. It is considered THE game by the Little Tigers. Said PHS coach Dick Wood, "If we could win this game, I'd feel we'd have had a successful season even if we didn't win another.

Although Trenton has beaten PHS the last two years and tied the Little Tigers the year before, the won-lost record over the years between the two has been almost even. Historically, it is Princeton's turn. Unfortunately for the Little Tigers, they must face a squad that Wood labels as "probably the best team Trenton has had in the past ten years."

"They are a strong team. They've played all tough teams so far and they are a lot stronger than their record indicates," Wood reported. (THS won its first two games and tied unbeaten Thomas Jefferson, a perennial north Jersey power, on Saturday.) "A win, especially here, would mean an awful lot to the team, but I'd hate to say how we'll do."

No New Strategy. Wood added he doesn't plan to surprise the visiting Tornadoes with new plays or formations. Instead the Little Tigers will be working hard on the plays they already have. "We know we've got things we have to work on and we're going to bang away at them all week."

One notably weak link in its attack that PHS must overcome is its passing. "We've got to be able to mix up our attack more than we have. We can run," Wood feels, "but if we could pass a little, our running game would improve even more."

The Blue and White also must work on its blocking. Wood reported that the team had trouble blocking against a seven-man line employed by Hackettstown and "I think Trenton might use something similar."

Against Hackettstown, Wood said his team played better than the previous week. But Hackettstown, he said was a lot stronger than he expected, both offensively and defensively. "It's been a long time since I've seen a team hit that hard. It was real bruising game; we were lucky to get out of it with as few injuries as we did."

HUN SEEKS FIRST

Against Germantown Friends. The once-beaten, once-tied Hun football team will be striving for its first victory of the season Friday afternoon when it travels to Pennsylvania to oppose Germantown Friends. The Quakers have lost two of three outings and Hun coach Hawley Waterman said, "I think my boys want to win one.

"I hope we do. We should, if comparative scores mean

Has poor health made you uninsurable?

It can come to many people—a serious health problem before they own enough life insurance to meet their family's minimum requirements. If this has happened to you or if your application for insurance has been declined on a medical basis recently, we suggest you check with the Man from Manufacturers.

He represents a company that practices the maxim that life insurance should be available to as wide a group of people as possible. Over the past two decades many people who earlier would have been unable to buy life insurance anywhere have qualified for Manufacturers Life policies. Manufacturers Life was, for example, a pioneer in offering life insurance to men and women with diabetes.

Whatever your physical condition you can be sure of careful and individual consideration of your application at the Manufacturers Life.

anything," Waterman added. He went on to point out that no matter what the past records of each school may have been, the Hun-Germantown contest was always close and always hard fought.

This will be the sixth meeting between the two teams. Germantown has never beaten Hun. "Of course, this is always an incentive for them" said Waterman, "but I hope we will be able to get that first win."

For the second week in a row, Hun let that first victory slip through its fingers in the fourth quarter. This time it was Perkiomen which managed to catch up in the final period. The score on Saturday was an 18-18 tie.

ANDOVER IS FOE

Of Lawrenceville Team. The Lawrenceville football team, which defeated Episcopal High School of Alexandria, Va., 14-8, last week, will play host to Andover on Saturday at 2.

The Larries inflicted Episcopal's first loss in three seasons in the initial football game between the two schools. Todd Orvaid and John Polhemus scored the Lawrenceville touchdowns, both on short plunges.

Episcopal made a late drive in the fourth quarter, but it was stopped short when Will Dickey intercepted an errant pass. An earlier Episcopal drive was also halted by an interception, this one by Robin Madden on the two yard line.

The Larries will be going for their third victory without a loss this season in this Saturday's game. They will be up against one of the perennial New England prep school gridiron powers.

Andover opened its season with a 12-8 victory over the Northeastern freshmen. The visitors will travel to Newark by plane on Saturday morning and will continue on to Lawrenceville by bus.

GOLF CLASSIC SET

Nicklaus To Play. Jack Nicklaus, the winner of the U. S. Open and the World Series of Golf, will tee off with three New Jersey golfers Sunday at 1 at the Pine Brook Country Club, off Route 206 at Belle Mead, in the Heart Fund Golf Clasic.

Nicklaus will be paired with Al Bohem of Somerset County. Opposing them will be Wes Ellis, holder of the state P.G.A. and Open titles, and Bill Anderson of Somerville.

Tickets for the match are available at all golf and country clubs in the area. The classic is sponsored by the Golfers Association of Somerset County.

NICOLL WINS AGAIN

In Carnegie Sailing. For the second time this fall, the Sunday Carnegie Sailing Club races were won by Ted Nicoll. His son, Matt, served as crew. The northerly winds were unusually blustery.

Nicoll took one first place and compiled an 18.1 point total. Following were John Reeder, 15.7; Walt Foster, 14.7 and one first; Pat Curtiss, 14.4 and two firsts; Bob Wyllie, 12.1; Dexter Miller, 11.4, and Art Keiser, 3.0.

11th In Field of 37

Springdale Golf Club's entry in the first annual Pro-Amateur International Fourball Tournament finished 11th last week in a field of 37 playing in Scotland.

Teams consisting of three top amateurs and the club professional competed over a four-day period. Representing Springdale were George Barrie, Elliott McVitty and Dick Morgan, who played at 85 percent of their handicaps, and Harry Kinnell, at scratch.

The tournament was staged on successive days over the King's and Queen's course at Gleaneagles, at Carnoustie and at St. Andrews. Kinnell shot a 77 at Carnoustie for his best round, while Morgan had a 76 the same day. McVitty finished in 79 over the Queen's Course, while Barrie had an 82 over the tough St. Andrews layout.

The Springdale entry's best net was a 64, one higher than the top performance that day.

BOWLING NOTES

Basile Holds Lead. Mike Basile rolled a 582 series and took two of his three games to retain possession of the lead in the Individual Classic League. Basile, with an 8-1 record, is one game up on Joe Baldino, who swept his three games to break a five-way tie for second place.

Trailing Baldino by a game are Guido Zinetti and Jack Lucey. Lucey took two of three games and Zinetti registered a win and a tie in three efforts to tie for third place. High set for the week was bowled by Al Hibbard. The tenth-place kegler had a 595 series but was unable to record a victory.

"B" League competition saw Jugtown Del's lead narrowed to four points. Kase Kleaners won both of its games to break a second-place tie with Sportsmen. Sportsmen, with an 18-point total, split two games to drop six points off the pace into a third-place tie with Campus Taxi.

Mike Zeccola rolled a 220 for the league's high single game of the week. Six pins behind the leader was Lucey ahead of Baldino by a point and Don Snyder by two. Six other games over 200 were recorded by Hibbard, 206; Wilton Rose and Bill Dumble, 203; Val Ranallo and Fred Procaccini, 202, and Millon Shinn, 201.

Lawrenceville and Belle Mead, with 22 points apiece, finished the week in a tie for top spot in the Tri-County Firemen's League. Hook and Ladder held onto third place, two points ahead of Rocky Hill. Ken Luck cleared the coveted 200-mark twice with scores of 225 and 210, the former being the high for the week.

Other games surpassing 200 were Bill Davall's 210, a 213 by Iggy McHugh and Ray Miciniski's 206. Grover widened its "A" Lague lead to four points by splitting two games. The leader now has 18 points. The leaders now have 18 points.

Trailing in the second spot is Cooper & Schafer, which was unable to win a game. Challenging for the number two position is Princeton Inn, with a 12 point total, two points ahead of New Team and K of C, both of which got two victories to tie for fourth place.

Included among the three games over 200 was a 221, the single-game high, bowled by Bill Parke. Gus Licari, with a 212, and Al Perna, with a 201, were others in this group. Grover and Princeton Inn tied for the team series high at 2471. The top individual set was a 570, rolled by Larry Golden.

The Reformers held a two-point lead over Para Lab in the Industrial League. Tied for third place with 14 points each, six points out of first, were Princeton Elks, First National Bank and Tiger Garage.

Bill Rodefeld registered both the series high of 636 and the game high of 244. Gilbert Turner, with a 231, and Mike Kopliner, with a 203, were others to surpass 200 pins.

Trenton Furniture Store Suffers Damage

STORY

"The baby twister which hit portions of Mercerville, N. J. on Monday night smashed several plate glass windows of Lieberman's Wayside Manor Furniture store at 2180 Nottingham Way, Mercerville, Trenton, N. J. The force of the wind scattered the glass for hundreds of feet. At the height of the storm firemen from the Mercerville Fire Co. assisted in cleaning up the debris and erected canvas over the areas where the glass had been smashed." 1000 WORDS A MINUTE

Yes, you can read this fast—and faster when you use the ACCELERATED READING technique — and you can read almost any kind of material this way.

The AVERAGE graduate of the ACCELERATED READING course increases his speed from 2 to 6 times his beginning rate, without any loss in comprehension or enjoyment. Most of our graduates read over 1000 words a minute; many read more than 2500 words a minute. Imagine what this new reading ability will allow you to accomplish!

A course in ACCELERATED READING will be taught in Princeton this Fall. Enrollments are now being accepted for the class beginning November 1. The course will be 10 weeks long, with one 2½ hour class session each week. For further information contact:

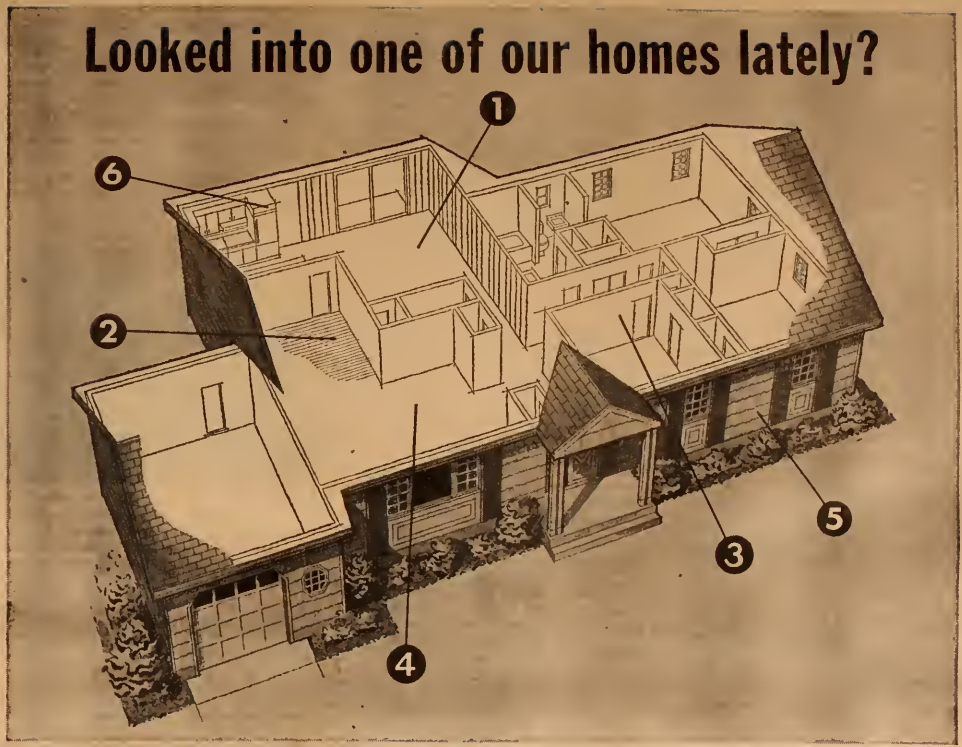
Looked into one of our homes lately?



Then you probably noticed all these extra values they contain!

Homes of similar design may look the same to the casual observer but it's what goes into a house, what you get for your money, that determines the true value of a home.

That's why we invite your specific attention to some of the extra quality features that make a Village on the Green home one of the best values on the market today.

1 SPACIOUS WOOD-PANELLED FAMILY RECREATION ROOM — Every home at Village on the Green offers this functional and beautiful extra. In the ranch model, you get the extra value of having the family room in the living area.

2 FULL DOUBLE OAK FLOORING THROUGHOUT — No skimpy single-thickness floors at Village on the Green. Every home contains tongue-and-groove oak flooring.

3 INTERIOR PAINTING — The price of every home at Village on the Green includes interior painting. There are no hidden extras once you've purchased your home.

4 SQUARE FOOTAGE — Check the number of square feet of living space in every home at Village on the Green. You'll find that, dollar for dollar, you're getting more room for your money.

5 DOUBLE COURSE CEDAR SHINGLES — No inexpensive asbestos shingles are ever used on the homes at Village on the Green. Only top-grade cedar shingles, installed double course, on all four sides!

6 DREAM KITCHEN — Every kitchen at Village on the Green is a homemaker's dream. Planned to save needless steps, it is complemented by such famous appliances as Magic Chef oven and range, Kentile floors, Formica counter tops and cabinets, and RCA dishwasher. Only a few of the dozens of top-quality name brands you'll find in every Village on the Green home.

These and the features listed in the next column tell you how much value you're getting at Village on the Green. If you are among the thousands who have already visited Village on the Green, you already know. If you haven't seen these outstanding homes yet, plan your visit soon. Why not this weekend?

THE TREES STAYED... AND SO WILL YOU!

When these lovely homes were built in Lawrence Township ...the trees stayed. Hundreds of towering oaks and pines, majestic hickories and flowering dogwoods. The land was the site of a famous tree nursery. The soil is rich, the terrain gently rolling. Next door to the Green Acres Golf Course. An elementary school right on the grounds. Only one mile to the new Lawrenceville Shopping Center. Ten minutes from Princeton and Trenton.

This perfect site attracted one of the finest custom home builders of Princeton. He is building these 33 homes with the quality and luxury features that are his trademark. Come out today. You'll stay!

MANY FEATURES USUALLY FOUND ONLY IN CUSTOM HOMES

"THE AMHERST"—SPLIT LEVEL—B-foot sliding glass picture doors give access to the huge outdoor patio from the family room.
